WEST VIRGINIA UNIVERSITY

J. M. Jacobs

M. JACOBS was born July 16th, 1860, and brought up on a farm near Little Falls, Monongalia County. He attended the public school in the winter and did farm work during the summer and fall months. He taught school in Clinton District from 1879 to 1884 and was merchant, railroad agent, and postmaster at Little Falls from 1884 to 1895.

Mr. Jacobs moved to Fairmont in 1895 and is today President of Fairmont Mould & Foundry Co., and Manager of the Jacobs-Hutchinson Hardware Co. He is President of the Fairmont Chamber of Commerce, Treasurer of Stevenson Grocery Co., Director in The National Bank of Fairmont, The Fairmont Hotel, Y. M. C. A., and Business Men's Association. He is also Vice President of the Greater Fairmont Investment Co., and Cook Hospital Co.

He served with credit as a member of the House of Delegates in 1907 and in the special session of 1906 and did good work on some of the most important committees of these two sessions.

Mr. Jacobs is now serving as a member of the Draft Board at Fairmont and wears a selective service medal, which he is very proud to possess. He prizes very highly a letter to his Board from President Wilson and General Crowder, commending them for their splendid work, done without compensation, for the National Army.

THE ARMORY

War Department

The War Department of the Monticola

THE MONTICOLA, like other institutions and activities of merit, does not escape being influenced by the great world war; nor indeed does the MONTICOLA desire to be immune from being affected by the great struggle. Since the war had to come, and since the United States has taken up arms for Democracy and it is now "our war" the MONTICOLA is glad to be touched by the war.

West Virginia University's part in the war has been no mean part. Turn through the pages of this war department of the MONTICOLA and read our honor roll of students at the front. note the starred names everywhere throughout the book in its other departments, stars representing service men, go about our University buildings and see our numerous service flags bearing mute but glorious testimony of the bravery of West Virginia University men and you will have abundant reason for our war department of the MONTICOLA. This new opportunity to show an added honor to "our boys" at the front, and not because of the mere timeliness of the war as a current historical fact is the real motive for publishing our war department.

The makers of the MONTICOLA feel that the engravings and the articles which go to make up this part of the book add materially to the value of the MONTICOLA. They feel also, with all true "dwellers among mountains," that this war department will be one of the most cherished sections of the 1919 MONTICOLA, and that when YOU turn these pages it can be known and remembered with pride that "our boys" did not fail at the call.

With this aim in view the 1919 MONTICOLA presents its war department.

The Call

I.

They went away so silently
  By ones, by twos and threes,
We scarcely knew they'd heard the call
Until we missed them in the hall
  By ones, by twos and threes,—
They went away so silently.

II.

They went away so modestly
  To South and East and West,
We scarcely knew where they had gone
Until their names we came upon
  From South and East and West,—
They went away so modestly.

III.

Their hearts still beat so loyally
  For Gold and Blue, and thee,
O Woodburn Tower and Circle Walk,
They scarce can keep them from their talk
  Of all that's yet to be,—
Their hearts still beat so loyally.

IV.

And when in France so gallantly
  They prove our faith in them,
We scarce can tell our love and pride,
Or if they live or if they died,—
  They'll prove our faith in them,
In France, in France so gallantly.

V.

And then when they come home again,
  If only few, or all,
We scarce shall let the ringing cease
To welcome them and welcome peace,—
  When they, or few or all,
Shall come again, come home again!

—Waitman Barbe.

These clippings from the current numbers of the Athenaeum indicate something of the part of West Virginia University in the great world war, something of the sacrifices made and of the fine spirit shown.

West Virginia Gives $3,325 To War Fund

Ninety Percent of University Students Have Contributed. Big Drive This Week to Secure Unanimous Contributions.

The Students' Friendship War Fund totaled $3,325 Saturday night. This included no faculty pledges and represented the gift of 778 students, almost 90 percent of the student body.

$3,916 Is Total Subscribed To Students Friendship War Fund

West Virginia University Has Pledged Large Amount; Faculty Will Make Contributions This Week.

NOVEMBER 14 IS FIRST PAY-DAY

West Virginia University campaign for the War Fund will close this week and it is hoped that the five thousand dollar goal will have been attained. The treasurer, D. M. Willis, announced Saturday evening that he has received in pledges $3916. The clerical force of the University made a good showing in the campaign, one hundred percent contributing with a total of $130. Over ninety percent of the students now in regular attendance at the University have made pledges to the fund. Members of the faculty are making their pledges this week and turning in their cards to the financial secretary. The cards so far returned indicate liberal subscriptions.

$4,000 Mark Is Passed In Friendship War Fund

West Virginia Is Nearing Goal—Many Faculty Members Have Failed to Report—Campaign Will Close.

The Student Friendship Fund has now gone over $4000 at the University and is gradually nearing the goal set at the beginning of the campaign.

Many members of the faculty have not yet handed their cards to Professor Willis, but it is believed that enough cards will come in this week to swell the total to $5000.

Personal solicitations for pledges practically ended with the close of the campaign a week ago, and any who have not yet contributed to the fund and desire to do so should see the financial secretary in his office in 2 Martin Hall.

Friendship War Fund Reaches $4,300 Mark

Contributions Come in Very Slowly, But Secretary Lewellen Hopes to Reach Goal Set by December 15th.

Only a few contributions were made to the Student Friendship War Fund during the past week, and Monday morning the total pledged was slightly over $4,300. Seventy-three members of the faculty have made their pledges. Secretary Lewellen hopes to secure the $700 required to finish the sum subscribed by the University and to make a final report on December 15.

Young Women of University Organize For Red Cross

Auxiliary Unit Formed at Woman's Hall and Girls Pledge Their Efforts.

Friday evening, the girls of Woman's Hall assembled in the parlor and organized an auxiliary of the Red Cross Chapter of Morgantown. Miss Colburn was elected chairman and she presented the plans for the work.

The back parlor will be turned into a sewing room and the chairman will keep a supply of sewing at hand. The girls have each pledged to sew an hour a week and extra time if possible. The outlook is promising and with the enthusiasm that is being shown a large amount of work will be turned out.

Second Performance of Passing Show Yields $425 for Red Cross

Large Audience Hears Revised Program Given by the Girls at the Strand Theater Thursday Evening.

Playing before a packed house, the University girls gave a second performance of The Passing Show at the Strand Theater last Thursday night. The net proceeds amounting to $425 were for the use of the Red Cross and the war tax which was collected also goes to the local Red Cross. The demand for seats was great and everything was sold before the time for the performance.

Red Cross Secures 200 Members in University

West Virginia Girls Conduct Booth for Big Drive Here—Men Help.

Almost 200 new members were secured for the local chapter of Red Cross by the drive carried on Thursday and Wednesday of last week at the University. A score of young men and women interested in the cause worked untiringly to secure new members, and by Wednesday night there was no student enrolled in the University who had not been given an opportunity to become a member, and there were only an isolated few who had not joined the organization.

A booth was set up in Martin Hall at which applications for membership were received. A girl in Red Cross nurse's costume received the applications. There was always one or more young men detailed to assist. A large University Red Cross service flag with white field and blue border was hung near the booth, and every member placed his small red cross on the flag.

110 University Girls Work for Red Cross

Girls Are Devoting One Hour Each Week—More Workers Are Needed.

Is your name on the roll of Red Cross Workers?

If it isn't, you have not yet pledged yourself to do one hour's work a week at the University Red Cross room . During the past week new names have been added to the list until now there are 110 girls who give one hour a week to Red Cross work. A great deal of interest is being shown by the girls and the Red Cross room is a very busy place at all hours of the day. There are always room for more workers, though, and those girls who have not pledged themselves to work should do so at once.

West Virginia Will Join American University Union

Faculty Provides That University Men Will Have Privileges in Paris —Many Institutions Represented.

Members of the University faculty have definitely provided that West Virginia will enter the American University Union, an organization designed to meet the needs of the thousands of American university and college men who are or will be in Europe for military or other service in the cause of the Allies. During the recent campaign for funds to carry on the work of the Young Men's Christian Association, the faculty decided that $100.00 of its contribution should be applied on a membership in the Union. The membership fee will be sent in at once, and West Virginia men overseas will give all the privileges of the Union.

$600 Realized From University Minstrel; Benefit War Fund

Three Big Acts in Show—Errett Rodgers Stars in Hula Dance and Fan Dance—Cabaret Girls Score Big Hit

Over $600 was the amount turned over to the Army Y. M. C. A. fund as the proceeds of the Military Minstrel given by the University men at the Strand theater Thursday, February 28. The minstrel registered the most pronounced financial success in University history. Every seat and all the available standing room was sold out long before the performance. In addition to its financial success the minstrel scored a big hit as an entertainment. The audience received the songs, dances and comedy acts with the greatest enthusiasm. Some exceptionally clever comedy and singing made the minstrel an excellent show and won it a place in the ranks of high class entertainment.

Course in French Conversation Is Offered

Following the example set by other colleges in giving practical courses needed in wartime, Prof. A. L. Darby is offering a course in French conversation. The class meets once a week, on Saturday morning, and although no credit is offered for the course, a great interest is being taken in it. About thirty-five students were present at the first meeting. The object of the course is not to help students in their other French courses, but is chiefly for those who feel that they may require a practical speaking knowledge of the language. Several members of the class expect to be in France soon, either as soldiers or as relief workers, and this course will give them the knowledge of the language which wil be absolutely necessary there.

University Will Train Operators for Signal Corps

Expert Telegrapher to Assist Professor Waggoner in Course.

Complying with a special request of the war department the department of physics announced that beginning Monday, October 1st, a course in telegraphy, (wire and wireless, telephony and signalling as outlined by the signal corps of the U. S. army, would be offered in the University as a part of the regular curriculum. The course will be open only to men of the draft age and is expected to appeal especially to those in the second and third calls for the draft army. The state of West Virginia must furnish 300 telegraph operators, according to the announcement of the war department, and since only an elementary knowledge of electricity and magnetism is necessary to start the course it is expected that an exceptionally large enrollment will be developed.

Fifteen Engineers Are Graduated for Service

After Study All Through Summer, Men Have Completed Work and Are Ready for the Call to Service.

The senior class of the College of Engineering which is being graduated this month, was addressed at the weekly convocation Wednesday morning by D. B. Reger, assistant state geologist, and Professor C. R. Jones, dean of the college, who presided in the absence of President Trotter. Commenting on the graduation of this "emergency class," Dean Jones said, "Schools in normal times have never been able to supply sufficient scientifically trained men to meet the need. Since our nation entered the war, we have been compelled to speed up everything and go beyond what one thought was the fixed limit."

The College of Engineering, to do its part in meeting the extraordinary demand, arranged a continuous course through the past summer and continuing until the present time, whereby the seniors of the engineering college who otherwise would have received their degrees next June, might be graduated a half year earlier to meet the demands of the present crisis.

The graduating engineers are:

Civil Engineers.—E. C. Bennett, L. V. Carpenter, now teaching in Fairmont Normal; C. W. McCutcheon, Marvin E. Rahl, now a second lieutenant at Fort Sam Houston.

Mechanical Engineers.—L. H. Boghosian, R. W. Bruner, A. M. Hagan, R. W. Ward, J. S. Williamson, R. W. Wilmoth.

Electrical Engineers.—D. F. Cronin, H. G. Headlee, J. G. Montgomery, W. P. Raemsch, M. H. Thorn.

Closing of the College of Agriculture April 5 Releases Many for Farm

Ag. College Will Meet War-Time Crisis By Releasing Students and Faculty to Produce Moore Food.

The war-time demand for more food is the reason why the College of Agriculture will close April 5. The students and the faculty of the College will be assigned to different localities throughout the state, with the specific purpose to help the people of West Virginia produce record-breaking crops, with a reduced supply of labor. It is believed that by sending these 75 trained agriculturists into practical farm work an appreciable increase in crop-production will result.

All senior students will do county agent work, organize clubs among farm people, and will supervise garden and crops and cultivation. The work they do from April 5 to June will be considered as essential to their receiving a degree. The seniors will return for commencement and will be graduated.

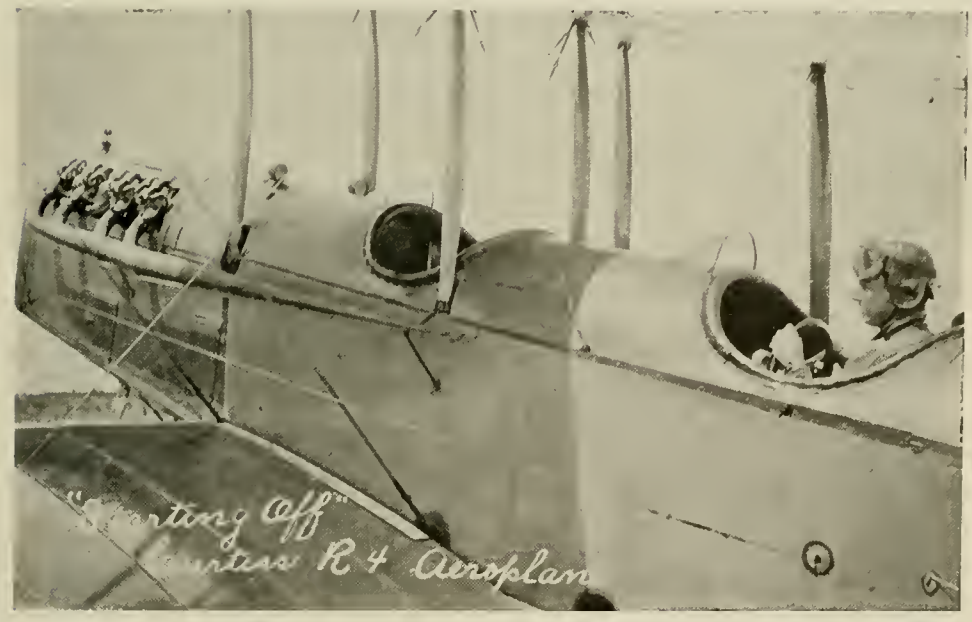
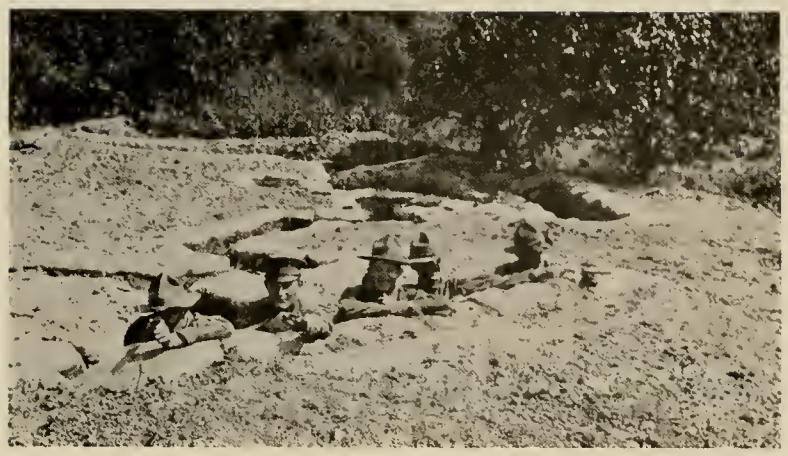
KELLEY FIELD





OUR COLLEGE SOLDIER BOYS

The war across the waters
Has widened to our shores;
Abroad the boom of cannon,
The foe within our doors.
Our nation waits no longer,
At last we burnish bright
Our swords, and hurry forward
To battle for the right.

The world with all its peoples
Is turbulent with war;
The allied hosts with courage
Engage a modern Thor—
A giant clad in armor
And drunk with lust of blood,
Who scouts the pledge of nations
And spurns the law of God.

From Oxford and St. Andrews,
From Paris, Rome, Louvain,
From Harvard, Yale, and Stanford,
In one unending train
The students march in khaki,
Prepared to pay the price,
For Truth prepared to offer
The crowning sacrifice.

In this, the world-wide muster
On Freedom's battle-ground,
The boys of West Virginia
In foremost ranks are found.
Good-bye, we said when willows
Were telling of the spring,
Good-bye, we said when red-birds
To snowy branches cling.

In watch-towers and in trenches,
On fields where death-fire rains,
On decks where cannon thunder,
On vaulting aeroplanes,
There stands the college student
And from his soul there springs
The pledge to end forever
The insolence of kings.

So be it, and when bullets
Their hiss of hate shall cease,
Then come our brave boy heroes
Back to their tasks of peace.
Right royal is the welcome
That waits their safe return.
Undying is the glory
Which Freedom's torch shall burn.

—MARY BERNICE SCOTT, '19.

KARL KYLE.....President

VIRGINIA BROWN.....Vice-President

PAULINE PRATT.....Secretary

D. FINNEY SHEETS.....Treasurer

J. J. KNIGHT.....Historian

KARL BYRON KYLE
Clarksburg

In the mid-day hour of Karl Kyle's life,
When fame is won by strength and strife,
When man shall seek to know if he is right,
His methods will bear a full disclosing light.

VIRGINIA BROWN
Morgantown

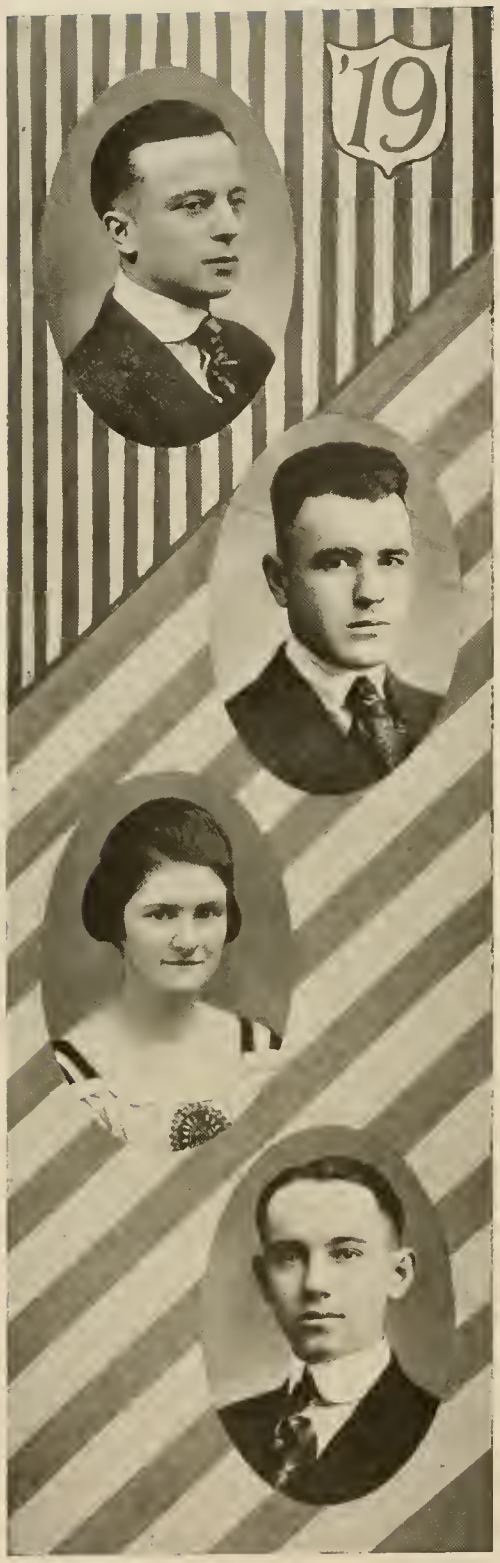
She's fond of social amenities,
And she ilkes the little vanities,
A very popular girl in W. V. U.,
And the school is proud of her too.

MARTHA PAULINE PRATT
Morgantown

She is exceedingly bright and full of wit
And always on hand to do her bit.
Indeed you say, "Quite a jolly lass
To be the secretary of her class."

D. FINNEY SHEETS
Huntington

The athletic news is written by Sheets
For "Doggie" knows all the scores and meets;
You'd never think such an ardent fan
Could write a brief, or do the work of a legal man.



KARL LYON MARSHALL
Morgantown

Karl is a cocky engineer,
Made Theta Psi in his first year,
Tackles big jobs without a fear,
And shoots big scores like a mountaineer.

GLENN ALLEN
Parkersburg

"Parkersburg Red" left school the great
Ohio to dam,
But he was given the can by Uncle Sam;
So back to school his suit case he bore
Because he needed a little "Moore."

DOROTHY McCOY CRANE
Sistersville

In Dramatic Club she is quite a star,
And a good student—indeed above par.
We are all most sure and feel no alarm
That she will be an actress of unusual charm.

ALDEN RAYMOND WINTER
Bridgeport

No finer fellow we know than he,
Whoever knows him his friend will be,
In math he's known as a "shark,"
And he's as good in chemistry as Dr. Clark.

Norman McKelvey Armstrong
Pittsburg, Pa.

"Prod" Armstrong has honored the school
he's attending,
His talent on every occasion he's lending
For he's a rare dancer, and plays the guitar,
He appears in the shows, in baseball a star.

Marie Thompson
Morgantown

She lives at the "Locks" and walks to school,
She's never tired or fussed, but always cool,
She starts to school at seven fifty-eight,
And always arrives just ten minutes late.

M. Harper Mauzy
Franklin

He talks and talks does Mr. Mauzy,
How he knows so much we can scarcely see,
We venture to wish that sometimes he'd be meek,
And give the other fellow his chance to speak.

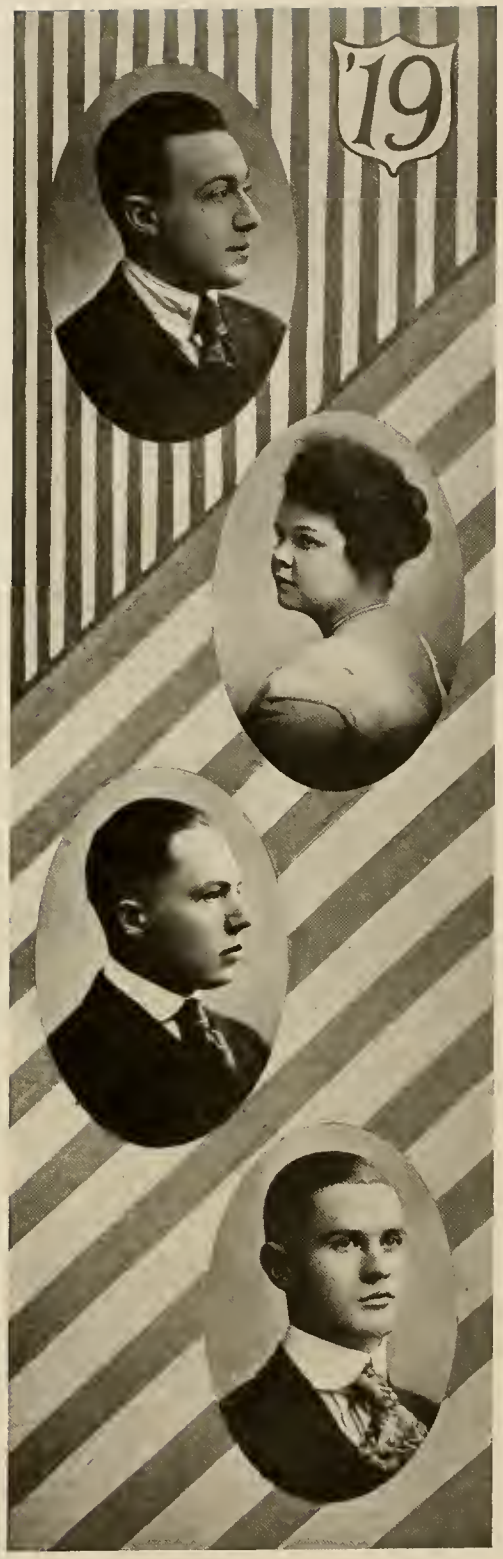
Herbert Hudson Thompson
Spencer

We know him by his walk
He's short and can talk,
All day in the lab he toils
For there he studies soils.



HARRY CRAWFORD COMPTON
Grafton

Mr. Compton, you're so handsome and de'bonnaire,
Tho for the girls you don't seem to care,
In history and French you are a student rare,
And for "fluff" have no time to spare.

MILDRED CLAYTON KEEFER
Grafton

Merry maid of many wiles,
We like your ways, we like your smiles,
When you teach Spanish in Argentina,
They'll call you a lovable "Senorita"

ALBERT WILLIAM LAAS
Benwood

Why no, nothing daunts Lass,
As a Freshman, he never missed a class;
But now as a Junior he misses no dance,
Yet we're always sure he's going to pass.

HAROLD HARRY HOWELL
Philippi

This bright young man who came from Philippi
For early retiring does not give a fly.
He needed some one to brighten his life,
So a short while ago he took a wife.

LEWIS STONE
Pikeville, Kentucky

"Hurrah for old Kentucky,
Where they never have the blues,
Where the captain kills the colonel
And the colonel kill the booze."

HELENA HANNA POWNALL
Keyser

She comes from Keyser, does Helen Pownall,
In education she says it all,
She is fond of the band and loves football.
To teach the foreigners she's had a call.

GERTRUDE MARTIN
Morgantown

Tho she is always gay,
You can hear her say
My time is taken up with work,
And no, I never, never flirt.

CECIL ORVAL RIGGS
Moundsville

In knee pants our youngest Junior came to Morgantown,
For the Monticola he hustles around,
He's a good shot, and in Chemistry a shark
And in this state he'll make his mark.

JOHN HAROLD UNDERWOOD
Lost Creek

Though his name is Underwood,
He's at the top it is understood,
For in Med. he makes a high grade,
And of his success we are not afraid.

EVA MOYA GODDIN
Elkins

What a wonderful thing, this little lass
Became the president of her class.
Even now, with Dr. Smith, she goes to see Patients way out in the country.

CUBA MORGAN
St. Marys

Cuba lives at Woman's Hall,
And she is short, not tall.
She's interested in food conservation,
Just now she is improving her observation.

WILLIAM K. MACKAY
Cameron

Bethany is all right, but medics she doesn't take,
And Mackay came here before it was too late
To pursue the study of his youthful choice,
That the world with him might also rejoice

ALFRED MORGAN DEARMAN
Reedy

His eyes are bright and his cheeks are red,
What's not in his notes is found in his head.
He's been to Marshall and Valpo too,
For the present he is registered at W. V. U.

IDA BELLE DORSEY
Mt. Lookout

Ida deserves some praise so sweet,
She, as a teacher, food problems will meet,
Winsome, sagacious, and skillful is she,
Friendly and gentle, what more could she be?

MRS. BLANCHE MILLER
Eglon

Yes, Mrs. Miller, we welcome you, too.
You will help win glory for W. V. U.
The day is here when women will wield
A powerful hand in the medical field.

HAROLD C. MILLER
Eglon

Oh! what is so good as this pleasant sight,
A student who works from morn till night?
His knowledge is the same as a doctor's now,
What will four years add to his scholarly brow?

REDFORD BOND WALKER
Williamson

This good looking fellow named Walker
To the girls is some talker.
Last summer he worked at Westinghouse,
And now he is thinking of building a house.

FRANCES MARGARITA LE PERA
Morgantown

To see and know Miss Frances Le Pera
Is of her dark Spanish beauty to be aware.
She takes more courses than others can carry
And for nothing does she tarry.

OLIVE BROWN
Morgantown

The first in grades in all the school,
She's quite independent and nobody's tool,
In social service she hopes to engage,
When another year she adds to her age.

GEORGE ANDREW FEDERER, JR.
Morgantown

Fed says that he is a preacher's' son.
He's a barber by trade and a very good one.
In chemistry lab he assists every day,
And we never see him fool any time away.

BENJAMIN MORTIMORE STOUT
Clarksburg

Down by the river, he cuts up "Hicks,"
Working all day with tools without nicks,
Like an old grad to work he sticks,
Then with Ola in the Ford forgets the "Hicks."

TINA BELLE DEBERRY
Terra Alta

O brown-eyed Tina DeBerry!
So fascinating and merry,
Studious and kind, yet a right good "sport,"
W. V. U. needs more of just her sort.

GERTRUDE ELIZABETH KIGER
Morgantown

This charming lass is named Gertrude,
Few are so frank or so true;
Her laughing eyes and smile so rare
Have shown her to be quite beyond compare.

OLIN HALL
Morgantown

O. B. is big, and strong, and tall,
And left the U. early last fall;
For "America" willing to give his all,
From the Medical School missed by all.

PAUL RUSSELL CUTRIGHT
Buckhannon

We have often seen this face before,
He won his fame on the basketball floor,
To him often West Virginia owed her score,
Now he has left us and gone to war.

HAZEL ELIZABETH CAMPBELL
Davis

From Davis came Hazel Campbell,
In the A. B. School she's done well
For she is a student, all can tell.
We often see her with Lazelle.

EDNA MAY MCCLEARY
Sherrard

She came here from Sherrard,
But doesn't study hard,
Her billets-doux are many,
And on replies, she spends many a penny.

FRANK WEIMER

This tall Junior has not been here long
For to Davis and Elkins, he did belong,
Down at the Ark he played this winter
On our team which was not often a winner.

ARNEST ANGELO
Parsons

Ernie is a studious lad
Who likes to stay at home.
His great desire beyond his grades
Is in the woods to roam.

LAURA EVANGELINE FRIES
Berkeley Springs

Her door stands open wide at night,
And she guards second floor with all her might
To keep each girl within her room,
Else Student Government shall seal her doom.

MARGARET CLARA ROBERTS
Morgantown

Margaret fails to come on many a day,
What is the reason we dare not say,
We don't want to lose you from our class,
So hurry, hurry up, for you are an interesting lass.

FRED HOUSTON
Elm Grove

Here's to Fred Houston,
Who never needs boosting,
He's one of the few in W. V. U.
Who does what he came to do.

EVERETT WAGNER
Fairmont

This preacher who used to sleep in class
Every course is now going to pass.
He can preach a good sermon—
Go to Fairmont and hear him some mornin(g).

MARIE ANNA GASCHLER
Morgantown

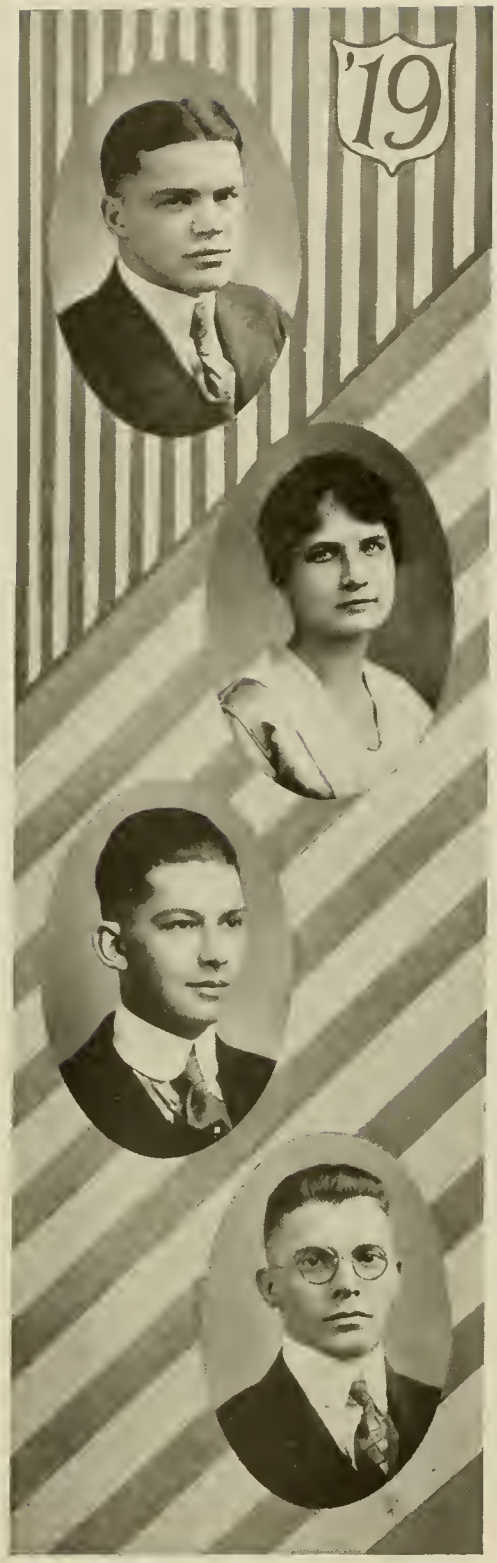
Why to be sure she majors in German,
Though about Boches she hears many a sermon,
A handsome Poilu knows she is loyal and true,
He comes from Davis, and is a West Virginian too.

RACHEL ROSE BERRY
Heaters

She knows a lot about the training of cooks
And a number of things not found in books;
She can manage a home in a scientific way
And furnish a new menu for each day.

JOHN BOWMAN FARQUHARSON
Landgraff

This man is sure enough a Swede
He won his fame with this strange name.
Jack is often seen with the High School girls;
His hair is light and sometimes curls.



RUSSEL BAILEY
Weston

Old man Russ is a merry old soul,
And an All-American Center is he.
He called for the signal, snapped the ball,
And helped make the touchdown, you see.

ELVA VIRGINIA KELLER
Morgantown

To feed the fighters on seas and lands,
Means work for women's hands;
Seeds to select, soils to test, and chicks to raise,
Will keep Elva busy for many summer days.

JAMES DONALD SISLER
Morgantown

The Baptist Church is Jim's regular place,
Tho at school we sometimes see his smiling face,
He's very tall and not at all slow,
And to war he may very soon go.

CLARENCE ROBY
Petersburg

"Precious" is too exceedingly too to describe,
A copy of Economics is ever by his side.
There are many fair ladies he's lovingly
carressed,
And is exceedingly unhappy if his trousers are unpressed.

HAROLD JAMES BARRETT
Cameron

This "gasser's" from Cameron, we're told,
He's a "prep doc" and in Zo, he's bold,
But he charms the lassies,
When he teaches Deahl's classes.

WEST HARDY
Keyser

"Wes" is very small and short,
But in sterling qualities is not lacking,
In work he spares no effort,
In wit and humor is not wanting.

WENDELL WEBSTER HOOVER
Webster Springs

He is not the food director,
Though Hoover is his name;
He is very good in history
And to be a lawyer is his aim.

JULIUS BONIMAN STOKES
Hall

In the medical school he takes the lead
He'll be a doctor of whom you'll read.
Studious and quiet and seldom heard,
He is from his purpose not easily deterred.

ROBERT PATTON WHITE
Clarksburg

Bob White! Bob White! you are never sure you are right,
For what you biuld by day you tear down
by night;
But you know a lot about a Hall,
Who, like yourself, is very tall.

GOLDA ELIZABETH HALL
Morgantown

She can conserve in the cuisine,
And makes beautiful things on the machine,
And her tastes are literary, too, we have seen,
For she has an intellectnal mien.

RUSSEL SMITH MCGINNIS
Harrisville

Handsome "Enoch" when cutting up
"Hicks,"
Cuts and slashes while the clock ticks,
Tho all the girls his attention seek,
'Tis Margaret six times a week.

HAROLD PARRIOT EVANS
Cameron

From the good old northern Panhandle
This man comes to be a "doc,"
Handsome he is, and popular too.
If his grade was low it would be a shock.

HARRY NOLTE
Wheeling

Harry likes the ladies, well I should say,
He goes to the Madeira every day,
He faithfully attends the Grand and the dances,
And all the maidens' hearts entrances.

MARY ELIZABETH GOUCHER
Toronto, Ohio

"Betty" is a girl from the Buckeye state,
Who, in the Mountain state, will meet her fate.
She will do her part in the Dramatic Club play,
And to Martin Hall she goes each day.

GORDON MAXWELL GRAY
Parkersburg

"Handsome" they call him, that man Gray,
And he'll be a general some day.
Shouts his commands like a soldier brave,
And about him the H. S. girls surely rave.

WILLIAM FRANKLIN KNODE, JR.
Fairview

"I'm failing in Math, or just on the brink,
Let's go to the movies, I don't want to think,"
Bill used to say before he went away
To study aviation down Oklahoma way.

REDFORD BOND WALKER
Williamson

This good looking fellow named Walker
To the girls is some talker.
Last summer he worked at Westinghouse,
And now he's thinking of building a house.

MABEL DAVIS
Morgantown

Mabel is quiet and demure,
Geology trips, she can't endure,
But when you talk of banking lore,
She absorbs it and—then asks for Moore.

BERNARD HAROLD GILMORE
Piedmont

From the lure of books he's turned away
And goes to the dances, his friends all say,
But a very good student is Mr. Gilmore
And his brain is a store-house of useful lore.

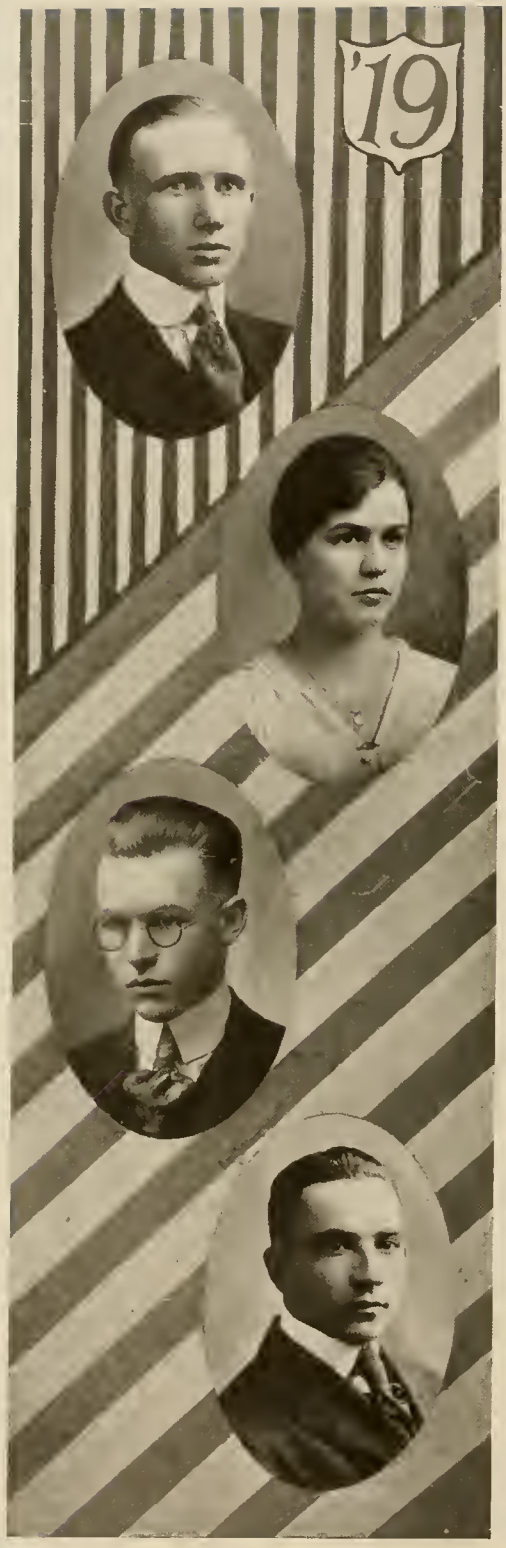
ELDON TUCKER
Morgantown

Tucker is a quiet boy,
Studies chemistry and cuts up hicks,
Lives in town, and rushes
The girls, in his Oakland Six.



WILLIAM SAMUEL JONES
Morgantown

Bill assists in chemistry and is popular, too.
Always in a hurry and never feels blue.
With his girl in the library you see him sometimes,
Not half can we tell in these simple rimes.

LUELLA CUMLEY
Morgantown

We love her best, who know her best—
This girl of Morgantown.
She's majoring in German, and some have guessed,
That she will always live in Morgantown.

WILLIAM LEPS BURDETTE
Morgantown

This engineer is named Burdette,
And most of the girls he's met,
He's learned to build and construct,
Some day he'll build an aqueduct.

LAWRENCE CULLEN RIGGS
Morgantown

This handsome young man came here from Bethany,
And of new friends, he's made may,
"I'll do my bit on the farm next summer,
If I don't go to war," says this newcomer.

JAMES WILLIAM WILLIAMS
Morgantown

A Captain is Billy in our Cadet Corps,
In calculus he's good, he's been there before,
He took Johnnie home in the auto but he flunked him again,
So now he sings and plays the mandolin.

CHARLES SPRIGG MILLER
Terra Alta

"Sprig" Miller is with us no longer,
For of war he is fonder.
We want him to win a commission
For this is his worthy ambition.

LUCILLE VIRGINIA HAYS
Glenville

There's a sweet little girl in the Junior Class,
And from Glenville Normal is the lass.
Not in work and study does she spend her time
But telling fortunes is in her line.

DANA TRUSCOTT MOORE
Parkersburg

Archibald's a student in Agriculture,
For life work, he's chosen that of a milk tester.
In the dairy department he's never missing
Unless he's going or coming from Weston.

ALLAN HUNTER MCCARNES
Middlebourne

A good engineer is Lieutenant McCarnes,
He also tells some very good yarns.
For the "Cadet Hops" he manages the finances,
And quite successful he makes these dances.

STELLA MABEL LEWIS
Sutton

When the air is full of sharpness,
And nerves are strung to tenseness,
She softens all with sweetness,
And soon we are full of meekness.

FLORENTZ LANTZ
Jacksonburg

A girl of varied talents is Flo,
To a task she never says no;
But plunges right in with little effort,
She has become "Our best all-round sport."

JAMES SAMUEL JURGENS
Sutton

It was during the strike at W. V. U.,
That in oratory Jim snddenly burst into view,
His speech was quick and full of wit,
And his "Hound-dog" story made a hit.

JOHN BROOKS COTTLE
Spencer

Brooks is the Mr. Editor, ah me!
He notices whatever's going on, you see,
He puts a better paper out
Than anybody here about.

MARY BERNICE SCOTT
Moundsville

She tried in the Telephone Unit to get a chance
To do her bit, and sail for France;
Alas! too young, so she writes write-ups for Juniors
And hopes that you will like yours.

MYRTLE LOUISE CREIGHTON
Parkersburg

She's just as good in History as in Spanish,
And with the girls she is clannish,
She is going to teach in high school,
And when she does work or flunk will be the rule.

FLOYD LESLIE DAVIS
Piedmont

This tall, slender, pale engineer,
Couldn't keep the Wolf from the door,
So he got married without a fear,
Now he works still harder than before.

HAROLD FOSTER DEPUE
Spencer

What a popular student is Harold DePue,
Of all the girls he knows quite a few.
He left us in April to stay in Spencer,
'Twas then we lost a very good dancer.

CLARA WALKER
Charleston

So clear is her talent in every line,
That nothing to her is unfitting;
In dancing she keeps perfect time,
And in spare moments for soldiers is knitting.

GENEVIEVE TIERNEY
Weston

"Jen" Tierney is an Irish lass,
Who's never been known to cut a class,
And, certainly, all will agree to the fact
That making fudge is her greatest knack.

CLIFFORD JOHN
Morgantown

He's active in many things and has won some renown,
He's such a hard worker, he wears a deep frown,
But if you suggest dancing or being gay,
He's ready for these just any old day.

JOHN JARRETT KNIGHT
Lewis

The Junior Historian, Mr. Jack Knight,
On our career, he'll shed a light,
No matter what heights he is striving to reach,
Just now he is learning to teach.

ELIZABETH MAY KOLETKA
Huntington

What men and their machines have wrought,
The good and bad that time has brought,
For history, events, and every kind of data,
Just ask Elizabeth Koletka.

JOHN BASIL LATTERNER
Morgantown

Fi Batar Cappar says, Jack's got style,
But this makes us smile,
For Fi Batar Cappar don't know,
He's an athlete from head to toe.

NATHAN JACOB DAVIDOV
Keystone

When he drills he is always out of step,
So he goes on Saturday to drill the "skin."
He carves up hicks with lots of pep;
An equal of Dave there has never been.

RUAL SWIGER
Fairmont

At manual labor "Bricks" worked last summer,
And made so much money that now he's a hummer,
And as an engineer, we know he'll have skill,
For with hand and brain he works with will.

MAYME EDITH MORTON
Webster Springs

On her way from lunch she passes the Strand,
The porter says, "'Tis Marguerite Snow,"
Says Mayme, "We never go to the Grand,
But to the Dixie and the Strand we often go."

OTTO HENRY
Morgantown

Here's our Junior, "Otto,"
He knows all about an auto,
For he's an engineer
And his course he can "steer."

RUDOLPH WINKLER
Charleston

The science of poultry he knows quite well;
And the kinds both to buy and to sell,
But he deals in "futures" and ought to be watched,
For he counts his chickens before they are hatched.

GEORGE TALBOT MCCOY
Sistersville

This young business man can manage our year book,
And pass his work by hook or crook,
About Economics he knows a great deal,
Can make a good speech, says Professor
Neil.

GWENDOLEN LANGFITT COLLIER
Tulsa, Oklahoma

I'm from Tulsa, take a look at me,
She said, and we turned around to see
A good looking girl, with lots of pep,
And quite the jolliest one we had met.

RUTH MCCOMBS
Wheeling

When, as a freshman, she came to W.
V. U.,
The boys fell in love, and the girls say
'tis true.
She's the prettiest girl in the class,
My! how she can dance, this popular lass.

CHARLES ROYALL KESSEL
Ripley

Who edits the Monticola? Why it's Kessel,
He's the man who with problems can wrestle.
Came here from Ripley with his wife,
And for a profession takes a doctor's life.

Sophomores

Sophomore Class History

Class of 1920

"Dutch" Sommers	President
Lawrence Padden	Vice-President
Nancy D. Clark	Secretary
John Hopkins	Treasurer
Anna A. Cowley	Historian
R. E. Mullin	Inter-Class Council

HAIL to the Sophomores, the glorious class of 1920! Its members constitute a vital worth while class, proving the old adage that in union there is strength. Due to the loyalty of each individual to his class, it has been able to stand firm and unseathed.

Facing a different set of existing conditions than any Sophomore class heretofore, it naturally has responded to those conditions in such a way as to make its history quite different and distinct. Possessing the spirit of determination and loyalty, it has done the things it best could do to show its love for our school and country. Its boys have gone in large numbers to fight the battles of our nation and everywhere they are doing things that reflect nothing but honor and credit on West Virginia University and the class of '20. Acknowledgement, of course, is made to the men who have gone to the front from other classes.

The men who have remained here at school as also the women are meeting and performing their tasks in a most patriotic manner. In work and sports, in campaigns and drives, everyone has done his part and more.

Sophomores are excelling in all activities. In Dramatic work such as the "Passing Show," the Y. M. C. A. Minstrel and the Dramatic Club Play, both of which will be given later, the members of the class of '20 are doing their bit well. They are not neglecting their duty in Y. M. and Y. W. C. A. and are also making a fine showing in athletics of all kinds. Everywhere, they are ready and willing to dedicate their time and services to helpful and uplifting projects.

With such a record as this class made during its Freshman year to serve as a basis and foundation of success, it is steadily building its complete record which will be left behind as a guide for many classes to come. Its chief hope is that it will continue togrow in strength and spirit so as to be sincere, sympathetic, loyal, direct, big and true to all dealings that lead to the best interests of West Virginia University.

Freshman History

Class of 1921

THE Freshman Class, entering West Virginia University in September of 1917, was the largest in the history of the institution. We are still a large class, for not many of our number have been called to the colors, through the Selective Draft. However, several of our boys have enlisted and the number of voluntary enlistments will constantly increase, if the war continues.

We selected green and white as our class colors. Green is a very noticeable color and we wanted to attract attention. Everybody seemed to see the green. At our first meeting, the twenty-first of September, we selected these colors, elected our officers, and also organized for the coming fray with the Sophomores.

Days of exeitement followed, for old fashioned street fights were engaged in by the ancient rival classmen. For a few nights the townspeople thought that the Huns were let loose in Morgantown, such was the barbaric warfare waged between the Freshmen and Sophomores. Both sides claimed success and a team from each side was chosen to "fight it out" in a tug of war, on the football field. Here the Sophomores sueceeded in pulling our boys through the stream of water, playing between the two teams. Freshman pep and class spirit prevailed in all the struggles.

Our class is well represented in college activities. In Athleties we have furnished good material in football, baseball, basketball and track. In the Cadet Band four Corporals and one Sergeant are Freshmen.

We are hopeful that our class will continue to be not only the largest class but the best all round class that ever chose green, as its Freshman color.

Joint Reception

The annual reception for new students was given by the Christian Associations of the University on Saturday night, September 22. About five hundred students were in attendance. An excellent program was given; following this refreshments were served.

Columbian Literary Society Socials

On Friday, October 5, about fifty young men and women assembled at the Columbian Hall to enjoy an excellent opening program given by the Columbian Literary Society. Dr. Barbe was the main speaker of the evening followed by Mr. Shurtleff.

Throughout the year numerous other interesting open meetings were held. One of which consisted of a program given by the University Woman's Suffrage League.

Skull and Key Dance

Another interesting feature of society among University circles was the dance given by the Sffull and Key Society on December 14. The Armory was elaborately decorated in colors and emblems of the Society. Refreshments were served and the couples danced until 12:30. Nossokoff-Maggio's Orchestra of Pittsburg, furnished the music. Those in charge of the dance were Jack Hagan, Russel Bailey, John Neidermyer, Chief Leidig and Jack Latterner.

Officers' Dance

An unusual social event was the informal dance given by the Cadet officers in the Armory on February 4. The hall was partiotically decorated and within the period of intermission small red, white and blue balloons were let drop from flags suspended in both ends of the building. The dance was in charge of a committee consisting of Major J. H. Boyd, Capt. H. H. Kerr and Lieutenant Allan McCarnes.

Phil-Hellenic Club

At the monthly meetings of the Phil-Hellenic Club most interesting programs and social gatherings were enjoyed by a number of University students and faculty. The meetings were held at the home of Dr. Bishop who is head of the Greek department.

Y. W. and Y. M. C. A. Parties

A series of acquaintance parties have been given by the Christian Associations throughout the year. Starting with the University students whose names begin with A and continuing through the alphabet, those whose names begin with the first three letters meeting at one time, and the successive three the next time, and so on until all were included. The first group met at Men's Hall on Sunnyside, others meeting with different members of the Association.

Athletic Dance

It has been planned to give each year to the athletes of the University a dance known as the Athletic Dance. The first dance of this kind was given February 5 at the Armory. Music was furnished by Nossokoff-Maggio Orchestra of Pittsburg. Those in charge of the dance were Gray Huffman and Russel Bailey.

Panhellenic Dances

Throughout the year there have been given six interesting and well-attended Pan-Hellenic dances. The committee which made the arrangements was composed of the following students: Gray Huffman, Norman Armstrong, Sterling Battome, Raymond Williamson, and William Welton.

Cadet Hops

Under the management of the Cadet Officers' Club two enjoyable Cadet hops were given. Nossokoff-Maggio Orchestra furnished the music for both dances. The Armory was guarded by Cadets in uniform. The hops were well attended and much enjoyed.

English Club

An enjoyable social event took place at Woman's Hall April 11, at which time Miss Susan Maxwell Moore and Miss Pollock entertained the English Club and members of the English faculty. Dr. Barbe gave the address of the evening.

Junior Dance

One of the best and largest attended social events of the season was the dance given May 26 under the supervision of the Junior class. Some of the West Virginia men in the service were present as our special guests.

The music was furnished by Kelley's Orchestra of Pittsburg. The Armory was decorated in the class colors as well as the National colors. The committee in charge consisted of Karl Kyle, Norman Armstrong, Harry Nolte, and Talbott McCoy.

Beowulf Gedryht

Another enjoyable social feature was the annual open meeting of the Beowulf Gedryht held at the home of Professor and Mrs. John Harrington Cox. April 20. The long story "Beowulf" was told by Miss Olive Brown. Other stories were told after which Mrs. Cox served refreshments. A very pleasant social evening was spent.

The Crucible

The purpose of the society is the promotion of interest in the various branches of chemistry and chemical industry, and training in scientific discussion. Those eligible for membership are Juniors and Seniors whose major subject is chemistry, medical students, students in the College of Agriculture whose major subject is soils, and one Sophomore having chemistry for his major subject and who has maintained the highest scholastic standing during the first three semesters of his course. Both scholarship and personality are considered in election of members.

Dramatic Club

An inovation was introduced in the presentation of this year's Dramatic Club Play, in that the cast was composed entirely of girls. The enlistment of many of the men of the club, and the probability that others would be called before the play was produced, resulted in the decision to give a wartime play, letting girls take the places of men. The play is Alfred Sutro's well-known comedy, "The Fascinating Mr. Vanderveldt."

Football Review

"WEST VIRGINIA'S most wonderful team and season." Those few words express the opinion of every follower of football at West Virginia University. The season was a success in every sense of the word.

For several years West Virginia has been battling for a place in the sun. Now through the medium of the 1917 team she has gained that coveted place. That position has not been won however without a long, hard struggle and would have been well-night unattainable without the able direction and leadership of Coaches McIntire and Tobin. Too much praise and credit can not be given the coaches for their wonderful work. From a squad composed almost entirely of raw material they developed a wonderful smooth-running team, a team that won recognition throughout the East, a team that beat Navy and W. and J., a team unequalled in the annals of West Virginia University.

COACH McINTYRE

West Virginia began the season greatly handicapped by the loss of nine of her 1916 Varsity Letter men. Of the 1916 linesmen only three remained and one of these, Hager, was lost due to a broken foot before the season began. Bailey and Ice alone of the 1916 linesmen remained. Of the 1916 backfield Captain Hite and Chenoweth had been lost, leaving however three able men in Rodgers, Lentz and King. These five men were the nucleus about which McIntire and Tobin developed a team that ranked with the best in the country.

Much can be said of the team. The physical condition of the boys was good throughout the season, as a rule it was superior to that of the opposing team. The team's wonderful success may be attributed in part to its physical condition. The boys are to be commended upon the way in which they denied themselves and sacrificed for the welfare of the team. In view of the fact that there was no training table their voluntary adherence to a simple diet was commendable and its result only short of marvelous. One very noticeable thing about the team's work was the fact that they seldom scored until the second half of the game. In only three out of ten games did West Virginia score in the first half and then she only scored 47 out of a total of 161 points. In the second half she scored 114 points, 71 of which were made in the last quarter.

The opening game of the season was played with the University of Pittsburgh at Morgantown on September the twenty-ninth. Pitt, fresh from its training camp, came to West Virginia confident of victory yet well knowing that it must fight and fight hard for every point gained. West Virginia fought as only Mountaineers can fight but weight and experience were against them and the honors of the day went to Pitt, the game resulting in a 14-9 score. The first half of the game was all Pitt's, West Virginia being unable to penetrate Pitt's heavy, powerful line, while Pitt was able to break through West Virginia's green, inexperienced line at will, her backs rushing the ball for short but consistent gains. In the last half, however, Pitt's line weakened and West Virginia fighting harder and more determinably than before was able to score nine points. Although not an actual victory for West Virginia still it was a moral one as a West Virginia football team had scored on Pitt for the first time since 1904. For Pitt the work of Gougler and McLaren featured. For West Virginia, Rodgers, Bailey, Lentz, Ice and King played wonderful ball. King's long and accurate punting was a feature of the game.

On October the Sixth, the Old Gold and Blue team invaded the East and returned victorious. In a hard gruelling struggle it had met and defeated the Navy by a 7-0 score. For three quarters the teams fought fiercely, neither side gaining a decided advantage until near the end of the third quarter when the pace began to tell on the Navy, then it was that West Virginia's wonderful physical condition became evident. At the beginning of the fourth quarter West Virginia received the ball on downs and after a steady march of 65 yards Harris, the fleet quarterback, scored the only touchdown of the game. It was a brilliant and well earned victory. Both the coaches and the men assert that the Navy was the best team they met during the entire season. West Virginia was obviously the better team, however, as shown by the fact that the Navy made only 10 first downs and many substitutions while West Virginia made 12 first downs and no substitutions. In defeating the Navy, West Virginia broke Gilmore Dobie's long string of consecutive victories, which extended over a period of twelve years. Due to this fact West Virginia was mentioned as a possible representative of Eastern football for the Festival of Roses which is held on New Year's Day at Pasidena, California.

COACH TOBIN

In the third game of the season West Virginia met and defeated the famous Carlisle Indians by a 21-0 score. The first half of the game was marked by poor playing and generalship on the part of West Virginia, due to which fact the Mountaineers played a defensive game almost entirely. Against the Mountaineer defense the Indians' light but fast and clever backfield was unable to make but two first downs. In the second half West Virginia played offensive ball but was unable to score until the last quarter when three touchdowns were made in rapid succession. Herman, the speedy Indian halfback, was the star of the game. For West Virginia, Rodgers, Bailey and Mills played good games.

Over-confident and opposed by an eleven that bitterly contested every inch of ground, West Virginia lost to Dartmouth at Hanover by a 6-2 score. Three times West Virginia came within scoring distance but each time it lacked the punch necessary to carry the ball over the line. This lack of punch was due to a mid-season slump in the spirit and physical condition of the boys. Dartmouth put up a wonderful defense and played excellent ball throughout the entire game. The breaks of the game went against West Virginia, this fact coupled with the lack of punch gave the game to Dartmouth, who scored early in the second quarter. West Virginia got its two points when Bailey blocked a Dartmouth punt in the last quarter, Dartmouth recovering for a safety. Rodgers as usual played an excellent game. Lentz played a brilliant game both on the offense and defense.

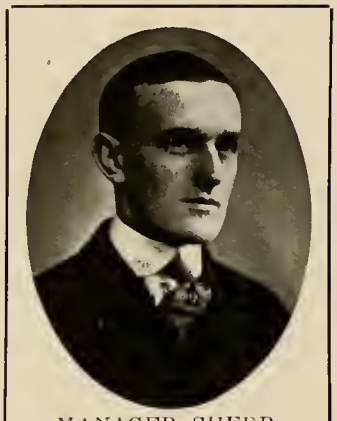
In a steady down-pour of rain and on a mud-soaked field, the Mountaineers overwhelmed Gettysburg by a 60-0 score. West Virginia relied chiefly on straight football and scored at will as Gettysburg, throughout the game showed little or no strength. Every man on the squad was in the game at one time or another, this fact coupled with the condition of the field prevented the score from being much larger than it was. During the last few minutes of play Munk Hager was sent into the game and played with his old time form and pep. Munk received a mighty ovation as he ran out upon the field.



MANAGER SHERR

Playing an uphill game with the score 7-0 against her at the end of the first half, West Virginia came back strong and completely out-played Rutgers, scoring a touchdown in the third quarter. During the first half Rutgers gained time after time through the very heart of West Virginia's line, yet were only able to score once. In the last half West Virginia completely outplayed their opponents and after a wonderful fight Rodgers went through the line for the touchdown that tied the score. It was a hard fight throughout the game, neither side gaining a decided advantage, except in the third quarter when West Virginia clearly outplayed Rutgers. Both teams had two chances to score and each failed to take advantage of but one of them. Rutgers' chances both came in the first quarter, but the Searlet lost its first opportunity when West Virginia's defense tightened and held for downs on the 10 yard line. West Virginia's first opportunity came in the second quarter when it received the ball from kick-off and after a steady march of 60 yards to Rutgers' two yard line lost the ball on downs. The spectacular playing of Rodgers was a brilliant feature of the game. He played the greatest game of his career and his work was closely watched and commended upon by the big Eastern sport writers among whom was the far-famed Walter Camp. King's punting and passing and Lentz's great defensive work materially aided the Mountaineers.

West Virginia met and defeated Virginia Polytechnical Institute at Huntington on November the Tenth by a 27-3 score. West Virginia well-knowing her strength and confident of victory slept throughout the entire first half. This fact coupled with the determination and gameness with which Tech fought, prevented West Virginia from scoring in the first quarter. The Mountaineers seemed amazed and baffled by the variety of play and speed uncorked by Tech, whose only tally came in the second quarter when Peyton, upon his fourth attempt, kicked a field goal from the 35 yard line. West Virginia came back strong in the second half and by sheer weight and physical endurance, coupled with powerful running on the part of Lentz and Rodgers was able to score four touchdowns. The stars of the game were Lentz and Rodgers for West Virginia, and Roden for Poly.

Playing under ideal weather conditions and before a large and enthusiastic crowd West Virginia defeated Washington and Jefferson at Fairmont on November the Seventeenth by a 7-0 score. It was a glorious and well-deserved victory and came to West Virginia after a string of defeats extending over a period of twenty-six years at the hands of Washington-Jefferson. Both teams fought fiercely, neither showing a decided advantage, although West Virginia was possibly the stronger. Wash-Jeff's much touted line easily merited the praise and publicity given them, they did not however out-play the Mountaineer forwards, who played the greatest game of the season. Mills and Hager plainly out-played Tressel and Carroll, the Red and Black's far-famed ends, while Bailey pushed Guy to the limit of his endurance. The Mountaineer backfield was easily superior to that of the Presidents, especially was this fact evident in running with the ball. The Mountaineer backs were powerful and aggressive and hit the line with all the force they could muster, whereas the wearers of the Red and Black sought openings in the line and fell through them for short but effective gains. For West Virginia the stars of the game, if any there were, were Rodgers, King and Lentz. Rodgers played a great offensive game while Lentz's defensive work was pre-eminent. King repeatedly out-punted McCreight while his ability at receiving passes was a deciding factor.

The greatest surprise of the season came when Wesleyan defeated West Virginia at Clarksburg on November the Twenty-fourth by a 20-0 score. This game entirely upset the dope as West Virginia was picked as a sure winner. It can not be denied that West Virginia had the better team and that a combination of circumstances rather than the ability of Wesleyan led to her defeat. The Mountaineers had many excuses to offer for this defeat, prominent among which was the fact that they had just come from a gruelling game the week before with Wash-Jeff, thus their physical condition was below standard while their self-confidence was above normal. Then, too, it seemed as though Wesleyan knew West Virginia's signals and formations for they were able to break up all plays. These facts coupled with lackadaisical playing on the part of West Virginia led to a victory for the Ministers.

As a fitting climax to so successful and brilliant a season, West Virginia gained an easy victory over North Carolina A. & M. on Thanksgiving Day. The 21-0 score testifies to the defects in West Virginia's game rather than to the strength of A. & M. West Virginia had several opportunities to score which she did not take advantage of. At no point in the game did A. & M. become dangerous, although once on an 82 yard run by Faucett she threatened to score. King proved to be the star of the game.

CAPTAIN RUSSELL BAILEY, '19, was the choice of three prominent sport writers for the 1917 All-American center. As captain and a leader Bailey has had few if any equals in the history of foothall at West Virginia. "Rus" was in the thickest of the fight at all times and by his own dash, spirit and pep inspired his men to greater things. At center Bailey played a clever game. On the offense he was fast and aggressive and passed the ball with rifle-like accuracy. On the defense his ability at breaking up interference and tackling was preminent. He seems to have an uncanny ability at solving plays and formations and this coupled with the fact that he is a rover makes him invaluable to the team.

CAPTAIN-ELECT ERRETT RODGERS, '19, was Walter Camp's choice for All-American ful'back. That statement in itself is enough of a write-up as it shows that "Rog" has reached the pinnacle of success in the football world. Much can be said of Rodgers and his work and yet there will still be something left unsaid. He is a clean, strong, heady player who plays a brilliant and consistent yet spectacular game. He has won an enviable reputation throughout the East as a wonderful open field runner, for once he gets the ball under his arm and skirts the end on a wide run it is well-nigh impossible to stop him. Much of the Mountaineer success is due to "Rog" and his ability to throw forward passes. With his rapid-fire talk he puts the snap into the backfield that otherwise would be lacking there. He is a great favorite among his team-mates and is sure to prove a successful and worthy captain of the 1918 team.

ANDREW V. KING, '19, halfback, came to West Virginia from the Sunny Southland where he had made a name for himself as a player of great ability. He is an adept at throwing and receiving forward passes and has, through this manner, made many touchdowns for the Old Gold and Blue. He excells at punting and running interference. Throughout the entire season he consistently outpunted his opponents, averaging a gain of from 10 to 15 yards on an exchange of punts. The longest punt of the season was in the Pitt game when "Rip" kicked the ball 70 yards in advance of the line of scrimmage, thus making it possible for West Virginia to score her first two points. "Rip" is now in the service of Uncle Sam.

J. HOWARD LENTZ, '20, halfback, was chosen by one sport writer for the All-American backfield and received honorable mention by several others. Lentz came here last year and although he won his letters did not make a regular place on the Varsity. This year with Captain Hite in the service there was a big hole in the backfield. Lentz was sent in to fill that hole and the manner in which he filled it is worthy of the highest praise. "Beany" can always be depended upon as he plays a steady, consistent game and puts up a hard fight. He is a hard, fierce and sure tackler and a wonderful follower of the ball through scrimmage. On the offense he exhibits a mighty rush as a line plunger. He is fast and hard to stop and can always be depended upon to carry the ball the necessary distance. Incidentally "Beany" put in more time than any other man on the team, being out of the game for only six minutes during the entire season.

CHARLES L. LEWIS, '20, quarterback, came to West Virginia from Charleston High. Last year he did not play Varsity ball due to the fact that there were more experienced men than he on the squad. This year, however, he broke down opposition and appeared during the latter part of the season in the Varsity backfield. Although not the best of generals he handled the team in a manner that won the approbation of the coaches. He is a clever speedy backfield man and with a little more experience at quarter will prove indispensable to the team.

PAUL E. HAGER, '19, end, is one of West Virginia's most valuable men. Due to a broken foot received while in training camp "Monk" was unable to get into the game until the season was about half over. He excels at receiving forward passes, tackling and breaking up interference. On one occasion during the W. and J. game he spilled the interference and also got the runner. "Monk" is imbued with that old spirit and pep which counts so much towards victory and which acts as a stimulant and inspiration to his team-mates.

FRED MILLS, '20, end, came to West Virginia from Keyser Prep where he had won for himself a name as a backfield man. Last year "Ike" was unfortunate in being among backfield men of greater weight and experience than he and so he spent most of the time on the bench. This year he was shifted to the end position where he soon proved his worth and versatility as a player. In the space of one short season he rapidly developed into one of the most powerful ends in the East. He is especially good on defense where he is a sure hard tackler. He is fast and gets well down under punts. "Ike" is now in the service of his country.

JOSEPH V. HARRICK, '21, tackle, came here from Indiana Normal as a linesman of recognized power and ability. Joe more than lived up to our great expectations, he surpassed them and in doing so proved himself one of the greatest linesmen that ever wore the Old Gold and Blue. He is in the game at all times and proves to be a bulwark on the line. He plays a hard, fast game and can always be depended upon to open a hole for the backfield men to pass through. Joe is also a baseball player of merit and has quite a reputation as a pitcher and outfielder. Great things are expected of him next year.

FRANK ICE, '18, tackle, after three years of determined effort won for himself a regular place on the Varsity. For two years he remained on the Reserve squad but last year succeeded in getting in enough games to earn his letters. This year by hard and determined effort he brought to the surface his latent football ability and developed into a most dependable linesman. He is fast and aggressive and fills a big hole in the line. He is very successful in breaking through and blocking punts and it was directly due to this fact that West Virginia scored her touchdown in the Pitt game. Frank is now with the colors.

RUSSEL D. MEREDITH, '21, guard, entered the University from Fairmont High where he had had a successful career in football. "Rus" was a big husky lad, who, despite his inexperience quickly developed into a sturdy aggressive linesman and proved to be the proverbial tower of strength on the defense. Although playing a position ordinarily unnoticed in the grandstand, "Rus" filled it so well that he never failed to gain favorable comment from the spectators. With a year's college experience behind him and three years more in front of him Meredith's prospects for the future are bright indeed.

CAPTAIN CLAY B. HITE, '18, halfback, at the end of the 1916 season, was chosen captain of the 1917 football team. When the United States declared war Clay went to the First Officers Training Samp where he received a commission as lieutenant. Being in the service he was unable to return and lead the 1917 team to victory so Bailey was elected to captain the team in his stead. Clay or "Mud" as his friends, the entire student body, called him, came to West Virginia from Huntington High where he had made a reputation for himself as a backfield man of wonderful possibilities. His work here was always worthy of the highest praise. He proved to be a good tackler and a fleet halfback with a wonderful ability at carrying the ball through a broken field. He was a hard worker and a clean, brainy player and because he was so sincere in his work, so modest in his achievements and so worthy of his glory he became a great favorite. One West Virginia football enthusiastic said of Clay, "He was a true clean sportsman and one of the greatest halfbacks that ever fought for the Old Gold and Blue." That statement voices the opinion of every Mountaineer. "Mud" was also an excellent basketball player and captained the 1916 team. Clay will soon be fighting the greatest fight of all, the battle for democracy, and in this fight we wholeheartedly wish him the same success and the same glory that he so justly achieved on the gridiron.

JOHN B. McCUE ,'21, guard, came to West Virginia greatly handicapped by lack of experience and knowledge of the game. His sterling worth was soon uncovered and he was placed in the line to fill a hole. The manner in which he filled that hole bespeaks of his ability as a linesman of merit. John is a quiet fellow and a hard conscientious worker who puts his whole soul into his work. He exhibits great aptitude at learning the game and with another year's experience will develop into a most reliable linesman.

Review of the 1918 Basketball Season

The 1918 basketball season was a decided failure. Speak of it and you touch a sore spot in the heart of every student and follower of the Old Gold and Blue. The less said about it, the better.

Of seventeen games played only four were returned victories and they were all gained over schools of mediocre ability and of less athletic reputation than West Virginia. What was the cause of such a disastrous season would be hard to say or to determine. Surely the blame can't be placed on the war or on the lack of interest on the part of the student body for neither of these in any way affected it.

COACH MULLENEIX

When the call for candidates was issued many veteran basketball men responded. Among them were Rodgers, Latterner, Swiger, Aiken and Sommers of last year's Varsity squad; Dawson, Whetsell, Cutright and Weimer, of the crack 1917 Davis-Elkins team, and Hawkins of Fairmont High. All of these men were players of known ability and capable of being molded into one of the cleverest teams in the country, yet the opportunity for doing so was wasted and instead of a winning team there appeared a team of only ordinary ability composed, however, of men of great personal ability.

Early in December the Athletic Board selected Coach Mulleneix as basketball mentor for the 1918 season. Their selection was logical and wise and at that time was received with approval by both the students and the alumni. Mulleneix had been a student at West Virginia and while here had proven himself a player of ability and a leader of men. After leaving West Virginia he became coach at Davis-Elkins where in 1916 and 1917 he turned out one of the fastest and cleverest teams in the state. Hence Mulleneix easily merited the trust and confidence placed in him by the students and the Athletic Board. Perhaps, as is usually the case, too much was expected of "Mully" or perhaps his system of coaching was not the best but, be that as it may, he was capable of handling the men. He had proved that at Davis-Elkins. But now, with four members of his former winning team, he lost and lost consistently too. He never succeeded in finding a winning combination although he had several that were partially successful. His greatest trouble and "bugbear" was his inability to find or develop a good center. The reason for his failure would be hard to state. Perhaps the cards were running against him. Anyhow we know that Mulleneix did his best and more can be expected of no man.

At times throughout the season the Mountaineers showed a dash of form and spirit and at such times played a bang-up game. In several games they put up an excellent fight only to be beaten in the last few minutes of play by a very narrow margin. On March the Ninth the Old Gold and Blue met defeat at the hands of Washington-Jefferson but they went down to defeat only after a hard thrilling fight in which they played the best game of the entire season. West Virginia played her best games against Marietta, Washington-Jefferson, Penn State, Allegheny and Syracuse but all of them were defeats though none by decisive scores. Victories were gained over Fairmont Normal, Salem and Davis-Elkins.

1917 Baseball Review

TO state that the baseball team of nineteen hundred seventeen was a great team and that the season was a success would simply be "carrying coals to Newcastle" as every follower of baseball at West Virginia knows that such was the fact. Of the sixteen games played ten were won and six lost, victories going to Rutgers, Penn State, University of Pittsburgh and Wesleyan. Twelve of the games were played at home of which number eight were returned victories for the Old Gold and Blue. Four games were played abroad and of this number two were victories. A much larger schedule had been arranged but several games were unable to be played due to rain, Jupiter Pluvius being our strongest adversary. The season's schedule was a strong one comprising such teams as University of Pittsburgh, Penn State, Marshall, Rutgers and Pittsburgh Collegians.

The one dark spot on the season's record was the loss of the state championship to Wesleyan. During the seasons of 1915 and 1916 the contention for this honor had been West Virginia and Marshall but last year Wesleyan proved too strong for the Varsity and, in two closely contested games, defeated it. This gave to Wesleyan the state championship as the Varsity had in turn, beaten Marshall two games. West Virginia has now severed all athletic connections with Wesleyan and as a result the state championship may have to be determined this year by means of the "dope."

The Varsity's brilliant and spectacular victory over Penn State was easily the greatest game of the season. Some old fans declare it to be the greatest game ever played on the home lot. Previous to this game the Varsity had been playing indifferent ball and this day was no exception. For five innings neither side scored. Then in the sixth State on three hits, a walk and an error scored two runs. For eight innings the Varsity was absolutely at Gramley's mercy, he having allowed but one hit. Then in the last of the ninth with two men on bases, two out and two strikes on him, Carden, whose error in the sixth had figured largely in State's runs, drove a clean single to center, scoring the two base runners. The bleachers were in an uproar. In the tenth Penn State drove in another run but West Virginia again tied the score and the crowd went into paroxysms of joy. State failing to score in the eleventh, West Virginia on the famous squeeze play made a tally thus winning the game. For several minutes bedlam reigned supreme.

The Varsity-Alumni game, resulting in a 2-1 victory for the former, was the most interesting game of the season. All the runs were made in the first inning. Considering the fact that the Alumni had had no practise they played excellent ball. The game was virtually a victory for the Alumni. Kenna, for the Alumni, pitched wonderful ball, allowing but few hits and possessing good control. The Alumni line-up included such old stars as "Lefty" Core, Kemper Shelton, the present Varsity coach, Jack Kenna, Mike Leatherwood, Bill Lively, Pat Simon and Jim Gronniger. Joe McDermott acted as coach and manager while Paul McKeel appeared as trainer. Even Coach Charlie Hickman deserted his place on the Varsity bench and appeared in the outfield for the "Old Boys."

Although some of the 1917 team played better ball than others yet all deserve a brief word of comment. Fidler, at the back-stop position, played his usual excellent game. His fielding was faultless and his throwing swift and sure. Madeira, although not the best that could be hoped for, held down the first sack in fair shape. Carden, a freshman, filled Mike Leatherwood's old position at second and filled it well, too. Although uncertain at the bat he was a steady, sure fielder and proved a valuable asset to the team. Rodgers played the shortstop position in true big league style. His throwing was snappy and accurate and his batting average high. Captain Flinn, playing his usual position at third, had a very successful season. "Micky" is a clean fielder and a heavy hitter, about half of his hits being for extra bases. The composition of the outfield was unstable, being changed from time to time. At no time did it appear with more than mediocre strength, either in the field or at the bat. The principal outfielders were Ayers, Stoops, Stone, Nefflin, Huffman and Latterner. June's work on the mound was excellent. Throughout the season he maintained a good fielding and batting average. June is captain of the 1918 team. Latterner, although pitching good ball, apparently played out of luck. Jack is an excellent utility man and was used in outfield where he is fast and a good fielder.

A brief glance at the 1918 team and schedule shows that West Virginia has rosy prospects of another successful season. About June, Latterner, Flinn, Rodgers and Armstrong, the only remaining Varsity men, Coach Shelton has built a strong, clever team. So far they have played eleven games, winning from Marshall, Syracuse, Colgate, Army, Dartmouth and Worcester Tech, and losing to Connecticut Wesleyan, Fordham, The "Usaacs" and Navy.

That May Be

He—"Give me a date tonight?"
Co-ed—"But I don't know you."
He—"Well, what you don't know won't hurt you."

Not a Prevention

He—"What's to prevent my kissing you?"
She—"O my goodness!"
But it didn't.

It Certainly Does

First Girl—"How would you like to have a mustache on your lip?"
Second Girl—"Depends on the man."

Crap

Jim—"Ah done heard dat dey fin Columbus' bones."
Sunny—"Lawd I never knew that he was a gambling man."

Even This

He—"May I kiss you?"
She—"That's the way it goes—men throwing all the responsibility on the women."

He Wins the Prize

Hallie—"Prod is an awful kidder."
Frank—"So?"
Hallie—"Yes, I saw him stringing a banjo the other day."

In January

Thresa—"Have you done your outside reading?"
Bernice—"No, it is too cold."

Sands of Time

Lives of seniors all remind us
We can strive to do our best
And departing leave behind us
Note books that will help the rest.

Hard Luck

She—"I took first prize at a beauty show once—"
He—"Gwan."
She—"Sure, but a fellow caught me taking it and he made me put it back."

Naturally

Alumna—"What do they wear those Freshman hats for?"
Prod—"Hair nets."

So He Did

She thought the room was very hot,
And so did I!
She thought the porch the coolest spot,
And so did I!
So leaving all the ball room glare,
Where lights are high and women stare,
She wandered to a hammock there,
And so did I!
She nestled in that cozy swing,
And so did I!
She thought the moon the nicest thing,
And so did I!
Her rosy lips were very near,
As soft they murmured in my ear,
Till presently they came too near—
And so did I!

In Winter Weather

Fallen Prof.—(To Freshman who is assisting him to rise). "I slipped on that step. It's so icy."

Freshman—"So I see."

Prof.—"Sir, how dare you mimic me?"

Sing It

Margaret Moore—"Really, don't you think O. Henry is just wonderful?"

Effie Anderson—"Yes, it's just too dear—but I think I like O Johnny better."

The Breeze

Virginia—"What put the 'chill' in Chillicothe?"

Perk—"Why, the draft."

Slow

He—"I am trying to grow a mustache. I wonder what color it will be when it comes out."

She—"At the rate it is coming I should say it will be gray."

Times Change

Alumna—"How useless girls are today. They don't know what needles are for."

Freshman—"Why of course we know what needles are for— they are to make the Victrola play."

Electrocuted

Elinor—"Did you hear of the bad accident that occurred at the hall this morning?"

Dorothy—"No! what was it?"

Elinor—"Why Miss Moore picked up a bun and the currant ran up her arm."

Her Style

She—"I won't have any soup or fish today," she said, looking at the menu.

He—"I see you are not superficial."

Poets

Maud—"Who wrote Gray's Elegy?"

Elizabeth—"Lord Byron, I think."

Scherr's Book Store

THE STUDENT'S SHOP

Not In Sight

Ann Holme—"Say, Ida, may I borrow your white gloves?"
Ida—"Sure, but why the formality?"
Ann Holme—"Why I couldn't find them."

Hardly

Elizabeth—"Do you think I am tempermental?"
Maud—"No detrimental."

What, Again?

Mary—"Have you seen Bob, Helen?"
Helen—"No, is he drunk?"

Frank—"Time will tell."
Hallie—"Then I won't confide any of my secrets to it."

Where Was Professor Stewart?

Student rushing into book store and finding Professor Vickers there.—"Oh, can you tell me where Mr. Fox is?"

R. O. T. C.

Freshman girl—"What does R. O. T. C. stand for?"
Cadet—"Royal Order of Tom Cats."
Freshman—"How appropriate."

Two Kinds

Lem—"My father ran a deer down in a car once."
Sim—"That's nothing. I've ran down many a dear in my car."

Intelligent Scales

Riggs—(in Chemistry). "Where are you going with that data?"
Gilmore—"Into the balance room to balance the equation."

In the Fall

Prof. (soliloquizing)—"A few more days and the limbs will be bare."

Student—"Don't be too optimistic, the styles may change any time."

Law of Nature

Prof.—"Heat makes things expand and cold makes them contract. Can you give an example?"

Marshall—"In summer the days are long and in winter they are short."

Hum

Neal—"Let's go for a little spin."

Inez—"All right, old top."

Hot Stuff

Virginia—"How did she get so burned?"

Donald—"O, I reckon a smile lit up her countenance."

So

Bob—"I tell you the Grand girls have a hard time."

Bill—"Yes, they do have to bare a great deal."

A New One

Jack—"What is your excuse this time."

Co-ed—"Well, professor, I put the alarm clock under my bed so I'd hear it, but do you know I slept 'over' time."

Jack—"That's a new one. Excused."

Skin Drill

Lieutenant McCarnes—"Hey there! why aren't you holding your rifle in the proper hand."

A. B. Clark—"I've got a splinter in my hand."

McCarnes—"Been scratching your head, I suppose."

Glad to Meet You

Stirling, (introducing Brooks to Mary).—"Mary, this is Mr. Cottle."

Mary—"Is it?"

Out Among Them

Brooks (at the dance)—"Say, we are right among the four hundred tonight aren't we?"

His partner—"No, there's not near that many here, are there?"

DEPENDABLE SERVICE

Solid Bone

So beautiful she seemed to me,
I wished that we might wed;
Her neck was just like ivory,
But alas so was her head!

Easy

Prof. Hare—"Why even the hairs of your head are numbered."
Gus—"That's nothing, I can count yours too."

Frances—(Just home from Washington). "And girls at that hotel they served things a la carte."
Elizabeth—"I would like it better served, a la wagon."

As some one carried an old broken down victrola from the house, Elizabeth said in a sad tone. "Well girls he was playful to the last."

No Need to Worry

Bailey—"After all, fools make life amusing. When all the fools are dead I don't want to be alive."
Virginia Hewitt—"Don't worry, you won't be."

His Photograph

He thought he'd surely made a hit
When for his photograph she prayed
"Out when he calls"—she wrote on it—
And gave it to her maid.

The Boys Initials

Dr. Whitehill—"Whoever left his cadet cap in my room will please stay after class and get it. It can be identified by the owner's initials which are on it."
Student—"What are the initials, professor?"
Dr. Whitehill—"R. O. T. C."

Prof. Vickers—"Well, I began by addressing envelopes."

Awkward freshman—
Polished floor
Wreath of roses
On the floor
Amen!

Fay—"What is the difference between a kiss and a sewing machine?"
Bob—"One sews seams good, the other seems so good."

At the Stag

Hopkins—"What's good here tonight waiter?"
Waiter—"Cash only, sir."

The Hardest Course

Senior—"I passed Shakespeare today!"
Freshman—(the poor fish) ."Did he speak?"

Her Ancestors

She fell with a light sigh into his arms. Her head tilted back and their lips met. She turned her head and spoke:

"You understand, don't you Jack, that I have never done a thing like this before?" she asked anxiously.

He thinking what just happened:

"Yes, but what an awful lot you must have inherited from someone."

Hard Lines

Freshman—"I told father I loved you more than any other girl I ever met."

College Vamp—"And what did your father say?"

Freshman—"He said, to try to meet some more girls."

Love and War

Love me, dear—the bugles call,
War has caught us in its thrall.
Puppets we, by world winds tossed—
Let's speak truly ere all is lost.
Do not play the gay coquette,
Lest the future hold regret.
Kiss me while you have the chance,
Who knows when we leave for France?

Love me, dear, the dawn may bring
Orders to attack a king!
Currents whirl us * * *
Let us cease all vain pretense:
Let us drink love's * * * wine—
Lips to lips your heart to mine—
Kiss me, while you have the chance,
Who knows when we leave for France?

Soldiers Fighting at the Front, and Dollars working at Home.

When there is so much talk of man-power winning the war, when war experts are comparing the size of the navies of the various nations in the war, and when the war department is trying to calculate how many aeroplanes we will need to win the war, remember

OUR DOLLARS MUST WORK AT HOME

An idle citizen in this period of our country's danger is a roughlock, hindering the progress of the war just so much, when he ought to be helping win it. There must be no slacker men and there must be no slacker dollars. Every dollar and dime must be marshalled in this great conflict, helping to keep intact so far as possible, the economic and industrial life of the nation. There is no use to win at the front and lose at home. Russia did that. Germany's strength today lies in the fact that her civilian population back home are all working and making their dollars work. The Allies must win the war by outworking the Germans as well as by outfighting them.

DON'T WASTE DON'T HOARD

Don't spend your money foolishly just to keep it in circulation Don't buy things you don't need just because you have the money. Buy Liberty Loan Bonds, buy War Savings Stamps, buy Thrift Stamps. Keep your money working. Don't hide it, put it in the bank and let it help win the war. In a savings account it will earn interest for you, and help keep business going. And we must keep business going.

Every savings account started during this war is a badge of distinction, and every dollar put into a savings account is on the roll of honor. Let there be no slacker dollars. Make every dollar as well as every citizen a patriot, and we will win the war.

WE have tried to make the 1919 Monticola a history of the University during our Junior year. We have added the romantic to the realistic with the hope that the contents will be pleasing, interesting, and profitable. We give you the book, with the anticipation that you will enjoy it and treasure it up for future years.

Mr. Riggs has carefully prepared what we choose to call "The War Department." We want you to know where the "boys" are and what they are doing. Our old friend, Tom Moore, turned in to us a splendid lot of drawings. We thank him. Professor Madison Stathers is our official critic. We owe our gratitude to him for his efficient and courteous aid. To Mrs. Kessel and the Monticola Staff I cannot give too much praise. Mrs. Kessel has assisted us in many ways and added much to the enjoyment of the work. The members of the Staff have worked long and well. The Junior class owes much to these students for their conscientious work.

It has been a pleasant duty for us to do our bit in publishing the Monticola for the Class of '19. If it meets with your approval we are glad.

Very Sincerely,

CHARLES ROYALL KESSELL,

Editor-in-Chief.

AS business manager of the college annual for this year, I found many new difficulties confronting our enterprise. In a closing note of this book, therefore, it is only due the students and faculty, that thanks be extended to them for the help they have given in any manner whatsoever.

The Morgantown Printing and Binding Company have at all times rendered valuable aid and given suggestions, which have gone far to advance the success of this book.

The Northern Engraving Company of Canton, Ohio, have been exceedingly prompt in preparation of engravings, and their co-operation has been helpful in the extreme.

Mr. L. E. Friend has taken care of the photographic work in a faithful manner. The large increase of photographs necessary for the work this year made his task one of difficult nature, but it was done satisfactory, and we are grateful to him for his assistance.

We appreciate highly the interest of the advertisers, who have contracted for space in the business columns, and the students should patronize generously those who helped to make this student enterprise a success.

If this Monticola appeals to you, and records incidents that were most pleasing to you in your school year, then join with us in being glad to serve West Virginia.

GEORGE T. McCOY.
